DPA Web site disclaimer: Many factors are involved in Debt Negotiation, making the experience and result unique for each individual. Some of these factors include personal circumstances, the individual's ability to save funds, creditor and collection agency involvement and willingness to settle, and an individual's perseverance to complete a Debt Negotiation program. DPA does not assume or pay any of a client's debt, does not provide legal advice nor offer credit repair. Debt Negotiation estimates of 50% are examples of past performance of settled accounts for clients and do consider our service fees or potential tax consequences. DPA's Debt Negotiation Program is not available in all states. Please talk with us to ensure you understand our contract and contract terms before enrolling. By using this site, you acknowledge that you have read and understand our Terms of Use.

* This statement is an example of past performance and is not intended to be a guarantee of any future settlement results.

* Every program is unique and results will vary depending on your ability to pay and the creditor profile enrolled. The above chart does not include DPA's fees.
